

Supporting Siempelkamp Nuclear Services, Inc in the Design and Fabrication of Segmentation Equipment for the Zion Station D&D Project

3-Axis Milling Machine for Remote Core Barrel Operations

This remotely operated machine is used to cut the bolts that hold the Baffle Plates to the Former Plates on a Westinghouse PWR. This machine is hydraulically powered with an HMI touchscreen operator interface.

- 33-ft (10m) Tall
- 3-axes of Motion
- Remote Underwater Operation

- Computer Interface
- Turnkey System
- Lessons Learned Since 1983

